Social Media Researcher & Analyst

Project Title	Social Media Researcher & Analyst
Project Summary	The Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor tracks these issues around the world and calls attention to abuses and best practices via its reports and sizable social media properties. We want to ensure our messages target the right audiences at the right time in the right way.
Country	United States

Project Description

Every week, the researcher and analyst will review the postings on our properties and identify which ones had good engagement, evaluate trends, and make recommendations. For larger ad hoc projects, the intern will conduct research of the target audience to determine the best medium and message for optimal impact.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Social media management

Additional Information

Be the wizard behind our curtain. Help advance democracy, human rights, and labor rights around the world. Together we can speak up for those whose voices are not heard and hold abusive regimes to account.

The ideal candidate will be studying or interested in market research, public relations, communications, and/or analysis.

Language Requirements

None